6TH ANNUAL NATIONAL MARKET TRANSFORMATION CONFERENCE: Emerging Technologies

The 6th Annual National ESC Market Transformation Conference continues in high gear after the breakfast keynote session with the Emerging Technology panel presentation. This session has become a tradition at the conference and this year highlights water saving technologies, renewable energy strategies and lighting innovations.

Presenters include:

- Jorge Figueroa, Western Resource Advocates. He is the Senior Water Policy Analyst for Western Resource Advocates and works closely with water providers, decision-makers, and partner organizations in the Mountain West to ensure communities can meet their long-term water needs while sustaining healthy rivers and robust outdoor recreation economies. His presentation will examine some of the water saving technologies that are finding their way into GESPCs.
- Doug Dahle, National Renewable Energy Laboratory. He is a Renewable Energy Technology project development consultant to Federal agencies and an advisor for DOE Energy Savings Performance Contracting program. His presentation will focus on how to incorporate solar energy in an GESPC.
- Darren Smith, Northwest Edison. He is Director of Business Development for Northwest Edison where he works with state and federal ESCO markets to develop innovative lighting solutions. His presentation will explore innovative advances in lighting and lighting controls.

There is still time to register but attendance is limited – so register soon! See ya'll in Henderson
